

Hand writing practice

Hello to parents and children from Discovery class, every week I will be sending out a handwriting sheet for your child to practise their writing skills on. This can be repeated throughout the week and children can be encouraged to think of more words containing the relevant sounds. Please ask your child to write the sounds down repeatedly, on lined paper if you can, and to use their handwriting skills to make their writing as neat as possible. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask!

This week we are practising our 'tricky words!' there is also a link to some tricky word songs that you can sing together. How many tricky words can you spell?....

all.....

have.....

come.....

what.....

were.....

little.....

to.....

so.....

no.....

go.....

Can you now write some sentences with some of these words in them?

What other words can you think of that have these sounds in them?
